Licensed Psychologist

Greg is a Georgia licensed psychologist who joined CPS in 2015. Greg received a Ph.D. in Counseling Psychology from Auburn University and completed his doctoral internship at the Texas Tech University Student Counseling Center. He also holds a M.S. in Mental Health Counseling and B.A. in Psychology and Human Development and Family Studies from Lee University. Greg has clinical experience in inpatient, community, and outpatient settings, most of which has been at six university counseling centers. He works with students experiencing the full range of psychological concerns and has special interest in working with trauma, sexual and gender identity concerns, and men's issues. Greg uses a contemporary psychoanalytic approach that focuses on how people respond to their emotions, how this influences their relationships, and how these patterns might be reenacted in therapy. Alongside working with students, he feels most alive when deepening relationships while eating unique foods, playing outdoors, making music, and cheering for Auburn football.
