

"Dr. Jay" LaVelle Ingram, PhD

Coordinator of Clinical Services
Licensed Psychologist

Dr. Jay is a clinical psychologist licensed in Georgia and Maryland. She earned her doctoral degree in Clinical Psychology from the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, and her undergraduate degrees in English and Psychology from Smith College in Massachusetts. She completed two years of additional training (1990-92) at the Multicultural Training Institute in Washington, D.C. and has maintained an expertise in cross-cultural issues since that time. Dr. Jay has also focused professionally on supervision and training and has taught psychology at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. In her career she has served as a counseling center director at the University of Maryland Baltimore County, Chief Psychologist for the City of Atlanta and owner of her own consulting business, Diversity Dynamics, Inc. In her leisure time Dr. Jay is a novelist and screen-writer; enjoys reading fiction & designing jewelry.